

Webinar: Getting tech to support people

This webinar will look at how social care staff can support autistic people and people with a learning disability to make choices about using technology to stay connected and contribute to their communities when social distancing restrictions are in place.

This event will allow participants to share and learn from the experiences of using technology to enable autistic people and people with a learning disability to stay connected, so that other staff with less knowledge and experience are more confident in doing this.

The event is a whistle stop tour that will cover lots of fantastic ways of working and the following topics:

- Safety
- Accessibility
- Hardware, software and practical technology
- Creating good video 'spaces
- Supporting mental and physical health

And we can discuss what other support and development staff need.

Presenters include people from; 'Your Voice Counts', Keyring, The foundation for people with learning disabilities, Ace Anglia, United Response & Grapevine Coventry and Warwickshire.

Who should attend?

Adult social care staff and self-advocacy groups which support autistic people and people with a learning disability. This event is suitable for those with no prior knowledge but for those that do have experience the event will provide the chance to explore any difficulties or barriers people have faced and to share learning with others.
